

NSPCC Speak Out. Stay Safe. Online Programme Additional Resources

Additional resources

Adapted version of our assembly

You may have seen that we streamed an adapted version of our assembly for parents/carers to use at home with their children. The recording can be found here Watch our Speak out Stay safe assembly at home | NSPCC. Please note the above assembly recording does not replace the full Speak out. Stay safe. online programme which is only suitable for pupils in class.

To complement the adapted assembly, we have produced some resources that can be used by parents/carers to enable further discussion whilst doing activities with their children. These are hosted on the NSPCC website at www.nspcc.org.uk/activities.

Resources are available on NSPCC webpages to support schools and parents/carers or you can go directly to NSPCC Learning.

Online safety hub

The list of resources includes links to our Online Safety Hub where you will find advice and information on a range of different online safety topics including gaming, social media, sharing nudes, parental controls and more.

You will also find online safety information for families of children with additional needs and disabilities. We have worked with Ambitious about Autism and parents and carers who have children with additional needs and disabilities to create activities to help talk about online safety (see links in attached resources list).

How schools can support the NSPCC

Why not start your academic year by bringing your whole school together for an exciting fundraiser. Our dedicated website page Schools fundraising ideas | NSPCC will give you many ideas.

There is also information to support your school in choosing the NSPCC as your charity of the year. Do a fundraiser per term including the hugely popular Number Day in February and Childhood Day in June. So use the autumn term to be creative, have a dance-a-thon, a sponsored walk, a sponsored obstacle course, a go green for Buddy day - whatever you choose will help us be there for children.

If you have any questions about any of the above or any other ways the NSPCC can support your work, please do not hesitate to contact us. A Schools Coordinator would also be more than happy to deliver a short presentation to go through what we have available for schools. Schools can register for the online programme here Speak out Stay safe programme | NSPCC Learning.
